Dear Parents:

Beginning next school year, Advanced Placement Chemistry students will participate in a technology pilot project allowing guest access to the LSHS wireless network. Students in the project are invited to use their own wifi-capable personal computing device (e.g., laptop, cellular telephone, iPod, iPad, etc.) on the LSHS wireless network for educational use.

The purpose of the pilot program is to:

- Allow teachers and students to explore ways of using a personal computing device to enhance student learning.
- Allow technology staff to assess the infrastructure and management of devices before offering the service to the broader student body.

Students will receive further training and information on use of the LSHS wireless network during first quarter of the 2011-12 school year.

Please keep this pilot project in mind if you are considering a technology purchase in the next several months. The Advanced Placement Chemistry course already uses online resources for class assignments. These assignments will continue to develop and grow more robust as online connectivity increases at LSHS.

Please e-mail me if you will have a student-owned wireless device available next fall.

Thank you.
